The Middleburg Camp is a 1,100 s.f. re-creation of America's Appalachian past. The design is curiously primitive in the same manner as the original Appalachian cabins. In the interior, the layout is a simple two bedroom cabin with an open living/ kitchen/ dining area; perfect for a weekend getaway or a guest house.

Recommended Materials: MossCreek has a variety of materials available through its partners that can be purchased to build this home. Shown are antique log, antique brick, stone, metal roof, handmade doors, reclaimed windows, tobacco sticks, mushroom board siding, and barn timbers.
